Chapter 3 Interim examinations and partial examinations

Article 3.1 Format

1. Each module concludes with an interim examination. An interim examination for a module may comprise several partial examinations. Chapter 9 lists the testing programmes. These specify the method of assessment for the interim examinations or partial examinations for each module, for both the first and the second attempt.
2. The adopted testing programme (including timetable) may be amended by the program manager due to exceptional circumstances or for urgent reasons and with consent of the School Representative Advisory Council.
3. Based on the agreed testing programmes, the programme manager will ensure that the course catalogue specifies the learning objectives and study materials for each individual interim examination or partial examination, so students can prepare themselves as well as possible. The course catalogue will also specify whether examinations can be offset and/or weighed.
4. An interim examination or partial examination that is undertaken jointly by a group of students must be designed in such a way that it enables each of the students involved to obtain an individual mark, based on the learning objectives, for an individually distinguishable performance. The rules given for the assignment will indicate precisely how the assessment will be conducted.

Article 3.2 Sequential order

1. Chapter 8 (Testing programmes) specifies in which block or week the interim examinations or partial examinations will be held for each module.
2. Where applicable, the testing programmes will also indicate whether:
  - a. a particular number of credits is required for participation in interim examinations and/or partial examinations for specific modules;
  - b. certain modules must be passed before students can participate in specific modules.

Article 3.3 Number of attempts

1. Each academic year, students have two opportunities to complete a module. In the case of work placements and long-term assignments where a resit cannot take place in the same year, the programme manager may decide to offer students only one opportunity to complete a module in the same academic year.
2. If there is reason to do so based on a student's personal circumstances, the Examination Board may decide to deviate from the limitation in the number of times a student can retake an examination in a way that is advantageous for the student. The Examination Board will seek advice from the student counsellor and, where necessary, from the relevant lecturer and/or student counsellor before making a decision.
3. If a module is no longer offered, the degree programme will offer students a further two opportunities to take an interim examination or partial examination for this module in the following year.
4. If a student fails a module in the academic year in which she took the module and wishes to retake an interim examination or partial examination for that module the following academic year, the requirements imposed will be those that apply to the current academic year.

Article 3.4 Examination timetable

1. The program manager determines each year when the interim examinations take place (see Chapter 8). When setting the dates for the interim examinations in an academic year, the workload placed on students by the curriculum as a whole is taken into account. The fifth block can be used for resit's.
2. The examination timetable must be finalized and made known to students at least two weeks before the start of the relevant block or semester.
3. Students who fulfil the criteria of AUAS' Top-level Sports Regulations or Entrepreneurship Regulations may be eligible for a special examination timetable.

Article 3.5 Arrangement and mandatory participation in practical components

1. All modules contain practical components.
2. Where modules involve mandatory participation, the course catalogue will specify the rules governing as a requirement for participation in the interim examination and/or partial examination.

Article 3.6 Oral interim examination and/or partial examination

1. An oral interim examination and/or partial examination will always involve two examiners.
2. If, for organizational reasons, this is not practical, an exception may be made to this rule (except in the case of graduation modules). In that case, the oral interim examination and/or partial examination will have to be recorded.
3. An oral interim examination and/or partial examination is not open to the public, unless the Examination Board decides otherwise.

Article 3.7 Standardization of assessments

1. Interim examinations for all the degree program's modules will be awarded a mark between 1 and 10, with a maximum of one decimal place.
2. Partial examination will be awarded a mark between 1 and 10, with a maximum of one decimal place, or will be marked as 'pass' or 'fail'. The course catalogue indicates how such qualitative assessments are weighted when calculating the mark for the module.
3. A student's assessment result in an interim examination is deemed to be satisfactory if the mark allocated is - not rounded off - 5.5 or higher. A student's assessment result in a partial examination is deemed to be satisfactory if the mark allocated is - not rounded off - 5.5 or higher or if the student obtains a 'pass'. No rights can be derived from partial examinations.
4. If the interim examination comprises two or more partial examinations, the marks for which can be offset against each other, the student will pass the module if the weighted average of the partial examinations is - not rounded off - 5.5 or higher. Offsetting of marks between modules is not permitted.
- 4a. Where marks are offset, the student may be required to achieve a minimum mark of 5 or 5.5 for the partial examinations. If this is the case, it will be indicated in the course catalogue for the relevant module.
5. Where requested by the student, the results of any modules that the student has taken at an institution abroad that form part of the student's degree programme may be converted into marks on a scale of 1 to 10 by the Examination Board, based on the available grading table of the foreign institution and that of the AUAS.
6. On completion of a module, the highest (rounded) grade achieved will determine whether or not the student has passed the module.

Article 3.8 Recording and announcement of results

1. Interim examinations and partial examinations are assessed individually for each student. The mark is determined by the examiner or examiners.
2. The result of an interim examination or partial examination will be published in SIS no more than 15 working days after the examination date or submission date.

Article 3.9 Allocation of credits

1. The student will be deemed to have passed the module and the relevant credits will be allocated if the student has obtained a passing mark for the interim examination. Credits will not be awarded for passing partial examinations.
2. Where a student is granted an exemption for a particular module, she will be deemed to have passed that particular module and the corresponding credits will be allocated.
3. The date of the interim examination or the last partial examination that resulted in successful completion of the module will be treated as the date on which the credits were obtained. For exemptions applies the date the exemption was granted.

Article 3.10 Inspection

1. Students may inspect their interim examination paper or partial examination paper up to a maximum of 15 working days after publication in SIS. When the resit is planned soon after the first examination, the inspection session is planned at least 5 working days before the resit.
2. If the student is not able to participate at that time, she may request the Examination Board to inspect the marked interim examination or partial examination at another moment. The Examination Board decides when the inspection is possible.
3. The right to inspection expires with the expiration of the storage period (one year for examinations).

Article 3.11 Granting of exemptions

1. The Examination Board is authorised to grant exemptions to students if they have passed examinations at other higher education institutions whose content, scope and level are deemed by the Examination Board to correspond in sufficient measure to (parts of) the module for which the student wishes to be exempted;
2. A student wishing to be considered for an exemption must submit a motivated and substantiated request to that effect in writing to the Examination Board before the teaching of the module for which exemption is being requested begins. The request must be accompanied by documentary evidence indicating that the student has already satisfied the requirements for the modules for which an exemption is being requested.
3. The validity period of an exemption granted for (parts) of the module is unlimited in principle, unless the exemption has been granted in respect of one of the modules listed in section 8.2.
4. The Examination Board will determine, on the basis of the evidence submitted, whether the student has met the requirements of the relevant module.
5. The Examination Board will grant a request for exemption if, in its opinion, the student meets the requirements of the relevant module or parts thereof. The Examination Board will inform the student of its decision by digital means within four weeks of the date on which the request was received.
6. Exemptions will be listed with the description 'VR' in the examination results summary in SIS. A partial examination for which the student has been granted an exemption will not count towards the average final grade for the module of which this partial examination forms part.

Article 3.12 Validity

1. For (a part of) the modules the period of validity of exam results is limited. This is applicable if knowledge, insight and skills are demonstrable outdated. The names of these modules with a limited period of validity, the validity period and the reason for outdated are listed 8.3.
2. The Examination Board may extend the period of validity of examination results with limited validity.
3. Once the period of validity of an examination has expired, the student will be given the opportunity to take the module again and to take interim examinations and partial examinations again. If the module is no longer being offered, the Examination Board will designate a replacement module.

Article 3.13 Disabilities

1. The Examination Board may grant students disability modifications regarding assessment procedures. Students with a disability who would like to seek modifications to the assessment procedure must submit a substantiated request to this effect to the Examination Board. This request must be accompanied by a recommendation from the student counsellor. See also: Studying with a disability (A-Z-list).

Chapter 4 Rules for sitting interim examinations and partial examinations

Article 4.1 Registration examinations and partial examinations

1. The faculty decides if and how student have to register for interim and partial examinations and resits.
2. The test moment immediately following the course taken is considered the 'first opportunity'. A resit may take place if the student does not take part in the first opportunity or if the first opportunity resulted in a failing mark. If these opportunities are not used this does not oblige the programme to offer more than two test moments.

If the student retakes a course from a previous academic year in a subsequent academic year and makes use of the subsequent first opportunity, this will be considered a resit.

Article 4.2 Sitting interim examinations and partial examinations

1. When sitting interim examinations and partial examinations, the provisions of the interim examination protocols, guidelines and instructions of the study program/faculty apply. These guidelines and instructions must clearly state that, and in what way, the privacy of the testing student is guaranteed.
2. For digital examinations, the examination takes place in accordance with the requirements of security and privacy rules as laid down in the GDPR.

Article 4.3 Own/individual work

1. Students will sit the interim examination or partial examination individually and may use the permitted study aids when doing so. Group assignments are an exception to the rule of individual interim examinations and partial examinations. For group assignments, each group product must make it possible to distinguish the individual performance of each student based on the learning objectives.
2. Students must always submit their own work in interim examinations and partial examinations. When citing the work of others, students must apply the agreed rules for source acknowledgement.
3. If a student contravenes one or more of the provisions of articles 4.4 and 4.5, she will be deemed to have committed plagiarism and/or fraud.

Article 4.4 Definition of plagiarism

1. Plagiarism means:
  - a. using or copying someone else's texts, data, ideas or images without a full and correct acknowledgement of sources;
  - b. presenting the structure or central ideas developed by someone else as your own work or ideas, even if a reference to other authors has been included;
  - c. not indicating clearly in the text, for example through the use of quotation marks or a specific layout, that the text contains literal or near-literal quotes, even if sources have been acknowledged correctly;
  - d. paraphrasing the content of someone else's work without adequately acknowledging sources;
  - e. copying (parts of) media files or other sources, software source codes, models and other diagrams of third parties without acknowledgement, thereby passing them off as your own work;
  - f. submitting a text that has been submitted previously, or a similar text, for assignments of other programme modules without acknowledging the source;
  - g. copying the work of your peers and passing it off as your own work;

- h. submitting documents that have been acquired from a commercial institution or that have been written by someone else, either in exchange for payment or otherwise.
2. Depending on the actual circumstances of the particular case, other conduct may also be treated as plagiarism.
3. A student will be deemed to be complicit if fellow students copy his/her work with the student's consent and/or cooperation.
4. If one of the authors of a jointly written paper commits plagiarism, the other authors will be deemed to be accessories to plagiarism if they could or should have known that plagiarism had been committed.
5. No intention is required for determining plagiarism as referred to in the chapter.
6. In case of plagiarism in a concept work the Examination Board can apply article 4.7, paragraph 3.

Article 4.5 Detection of plagiarism

1. The examiners and the Examination Board are authorised to check submitted work for plagiarism and, to that end, may use plagiarism detection programs. By submitting a text to be assessed, the student gives his/her implicit permission for the text to be included in the database of the detection programme concerned.

Article 4.6 Definition of (serious) fraud

1. Fraud means any act, omission or attempt at or admission of behaviour that fully or partially prevents a correct and fair assessment of a person's knowledge, insights and skills or (professional) attitude from being made. Fraud includes:
  - a. using aids other than those allowed during an interim examination or partial examination;
  - b. copying during the interim examination or partial examination or exchanging information either inside or outside the examination room;
  - c. pretending to be someone else during the interim examination or partial examination;
  - d. being represented by someone else during the interim examination or partial examination;
  - e. taking possession of the assignment or assignments of the interim examination before the date or time the examination concerned is due to take place;
  - f. inventing and/or falsifying survey results, interview responses or research data.
2. Fraud can involve an interim examination or partial examination that the student is taking themselves, as well as allowing other students to act in a fraudulent manner.
3. Fraud as described under letters c. and d. and plagiarism as described under letter h. in article 4.5 will in any case constitute serious fraud. Repeated fraud will be marked as serious fraud.
4. Depending on the actual circumstances of the particular case, other conduct may also be treated as fraud. No design is required for determining fraud as referred to in the chapter. Suspected fraud may be established before, during or after an interim examination or partial examination. An example of suspected fraud being established after the examination is if, during the marking process, two or more students appear to have given identical or virtually identical answers, including incorrect answers, to a large proportion of the questions.
5. In case of plagiarism in a concept work the Examination Board can apply article 4.7, paragraph 3.

Article 4.7 Procedure in the event of fraud and/or plagiarism

1. If there are serious grounds for suspecting that a student is guilty of fraud or plagiarism, the examiner or invigilator will notify the Examination Board.

2. The Examination Board will decide whether the student is actually guilty of fraud, including serious fraud, or plagiarism. If that is the case, the Examination Board will notify the student in writing, specifying the associated sanctions. Before reaching a decision, the Examination Board will give the student the opportunity to be heard, within a period of ten working days from notification. The student will be informed on the written notification of the examiner or invigilator before the hearing takes place.
3. If the student is found guilty of fraud or plagiarism, the Examination Board may prevent the student from taking certain interim examinations and/or partial examinations for a period of a maximum of one year. In the case of serious fraud the Examination Board may recommend to the dean that the student's enrolment be terminated definitely.
4. If the student is found guilty of fraud, the Examination Board may decide to check work submitted previously by the student concerned for fraud and, if fraud is detected, to impose sanctions.
5. If the fraud has been established as an indisputable fact, it will be recorded in SIS that the student has taken the interim examination or partial examination, but has not been awarded a mark due to fraud. .

Chapter 5 Examinations and degree certificate

1. The Master's programme ends with an examination.
2. Students are deemed to have passed the examination if they have successfully completed all the modules of the programme, or an exemption has been granted for them.
3. The Examination Board can deviate from paragraph 1 and conclude that a student has passed the examination when:
  - a. the student has been granted delay of graduation;

2. Modules for which the student has been granted an exemption and extracurricular modules will not be included when calculating the weighted average final mark. If an exemption has been granted for more than a third of the credits of the curriculum a student will not receive an average mark and cannot be awarded a 'cum laude' degree (a degree with distinction).
3. The student will be eligible to have the words 'cum laude' recorded on their degree certificate if the student meets the following requirements:
